GRADUATE STUDIES FACT SHEET

M.S. IN HIGHER EDUCATION COUNSELING/STUDENT AFFAIRS

OVERVIEW OF ALL PROGRAMS

The Department of Counselor Education at West Chester University offers degree programs in counselor education that are accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP). The programs in counselor education include one that leads to the master of science degree for students who wish to work in higher education settings and/or student affairs (M.S.). The second leads to the master of education and educational specialist I certificate for elementary and/or secondary school counselors (M.Ed.). In addition to the degree and certification programs, the department offers a 12-credit post-master's letter of completion program for those preparing to apply for Pennsylvania Professional Counselor Licensure.

Mindful of its dual constituencies (i.e., students in teacher preparation and counselors in training), the department has designed a curriculum that is consistent with the College of Education's conceptual framework and that meets national standards for teachers and counselors. Counselor education curricula address the core competencies developed by the National Board of Certified Counselors (NBCC) and CACREP. All programs emphasize the preparation of reflective practitioners who understand and appreciate the diversity of student needs, values, beliefs, and experiences.

Programs are rooted in research-based experiential training and recognize the importance of remediation, prevention, and developmental approaches to service delivery. Upon completion of the counselor education program at West Chester, students possess knowledge and skills in counseling content, client understanding, the helping process, and ethical, professional practice.

ABOUT GRADUATE STUDIES

West Chester University offers high-quality graduate degrees in more than 70 disciplines or areas of study, as well as certificate and certification programs. The graduate studies program has grown remarkably since its introduction in 1960. West Chester University's program is the largest within the 14 institutions in the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education enrolling more than 2,100 graduate students.

Programs can be taken on a part-time basis, and most of the graduate classes are scheduled during late afternoons and evenings for the benefit of in-service teachers and other employed persons.

ABOUT WEST CHESTER UNIVERSITY

A regional, public institution, West Chester University of Pennsylvania offers high-quality undergraduate and graduate degrees, as well as certification and certificate programs, in more than 100 subject areas. As the second largest member of the State System of Higher Education, West Chester offers a full and rewarding educational experience as well as reasonable tuition.

With a rich heritage dating back to the 19th century, West Chester University was founded in 1871 as West Chester Normal School for the purpose of training teachers for the Commonwealth's newly established public schools. In 1960, West Chester State Teachers College expanded its programs to include liberal arts and graduate degrees and, as a result, dropped "Teachers" from its name. In 1983, West Chester State College became one of the 14 institutions in the State System of Higher Education. Along with its university status, the school acquired a new system of governance and the opportunity to expand its degree programs.

Today, more than 15,400 graduate and undergraduate students, as well as 1,500 faculty and staff, study and work on the 406-acre campus. Situated in the Borough of West Chester, the campus is a picturesque mix of Gothic, Victorian, and modern architecture with pleasant, tree-shaded walks.

Strategically located at the center of the mid-Atlantic corridor, West Chester University is just 25 miles west of Philadelphia and 17 miles north of Wilmington, Del. The campus is convenient to major cultural institutions, recreational activities, and commercial businesses, many of which provide internship opportunities for WCU's students.
