Can you learn history at the movies???

Debate this essential question as you watch and analyze commercial films and documentaries about US history from the twentieth and twenty-first centuries, compare them to more traditional primary and secondary sources, and construct film reviews and filmographies.