

CSC 600-01 Classics of Computer Science

The course reviews key classic papers in the field of Computer Science since the inception of the field. The goal of the course is to provide graduate students with a way to synthesize various subfields of computer science into a unified overview. (Textbook: Ideas That Created the Future: Classic Papers of Computer Science by Harry Lewis.)